

No British Arms for South Africa

British arms manufacturers have supplied the South African Government with more than £200 million worth of warships, jet aircraft and artillery during the past five years. (Sunday Telegraph 31.3.63)

Mr. CHALRES ADEANE (Pros. Cons. Candidate, Erith & Crayford)
“By exporting arms to South Africa the British Government is bolstering a regime which pursues racial policies similar to those of the Nazis. This traffic must be stopped.”

Mr. JO GRIMOND, M.P. (Leader of the Liberal Party) has said “British arms now going to South Africa are intended to perpetuate a system that is abhorrent to all Liberals I join in your call to stop this traffic.”

Mr. HAROLD WILSON, M.P. (Leader of the Labour Party) has asked the British Government and people to “Act now and stop this bloody traffic in the weapons of oppression.”

CHIEF ALBERT LUTULI (1960 Nobel Peace Prize Winner) has called on the world “to ostracise South Africa so long as she is unrepentant . . . The situation calls for more effective action by the U.N., its member-nations, by organisations and individuals sympathetic to our cause.”
