

Rhodesia or Zimbabwe?

2 Day Conference

18/19th October 1975

(midday Saturday to early afternoon Sunday)

Digbeth Civic Hall, Digbeth, Birmingham

In the 10th anniversary year of the Unilateral Declaration of Independence by the illegal Smith regime in Rhodesia, the Anti-Apartheid Movement, jointly with the Birmingham Anti-Apartheid Committee, is sponsoring a two-day conference on the struggle for a free Zimbabwe.

Topics covered will include the struggle for independence and majority rule, the crisis for white power, Britain's continuing responsibility, South Africa's role, the history of the liberation movement, the impact of international action, labour conditions, the economic situation, and political persecution in Rhodesia now.

Plans for campaigning work in Britain will also be discussed.

Speakers include: A representative from the African National Council of Zimbabwe
Guy Clutton-Brock, deported from Rhodesia in 1971
Didymus Mutasa, former detainee and Chairman of Cold Comfort Farm
John Sprack, author of 'Rhodesia, South Africa's Sixth Province'
